SHORTRIDGE

TO THE FRONT

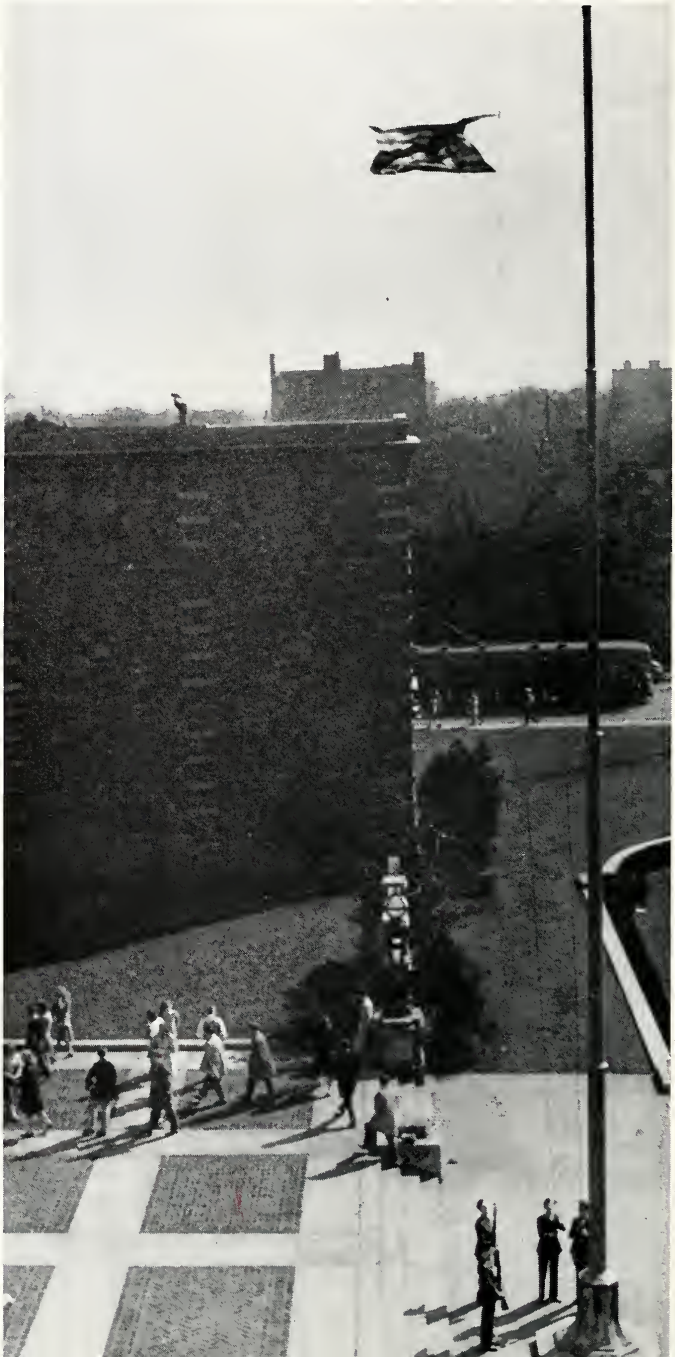

FOREWORD

THIS YEAR OF 1943 THE STUDENTS GRADUATING FROM SHORTRIDGE DO NOT GO SHYLY FORWARD WITH SMILES AND SHINING EYES TO FIND THEIR PLACES IN A WELCOMING PEACEFUL WORLD. IN CONTRAST WE GO HURRIEDLY FORTH TO FILL YAWNING HOLES IN THE ARMOR OF A MACHINE OF WAR. THOUGH WE GO WILLINGLY, HOPING TO SUPPLY THE NEED, WE HESITATE A MOMENT TO CONSIDER THE LIFE WE LEAVE AS IT IS RECORDED IN THE ANNUAL. THIS, OUR BOOK, DOES NOT ENTIRELY RECALL THE FOUR YEARS WHICH HAVE BROUGHT US TO OUR PRESENT STRENGTH. ONLY A FEW OF THE ORGANIZATIONS AND SCENES ARE MENTIONED WHICH, IN THE CHANGE FROM PEACE TO WAR, HAVE FADED AWAY WITH AN ERA. THIS ANNUAL GIVES AN ACCOUNT OF THE PRESENT, GOES WITH US TOWARD THE REALITY OF THE FUTURE, AND WILL BE A TREASURE WHEN TODAY IS THE LOVELY PAST.

DEDICATION

BECAUSE SHE HAS BEEN A WONDERFUL FRIEND TO MANY SENIOR CLASSES, HELPING WITH THE SENIOR PARTY AND INTERVIEWING EACH SENIOR PERSONALLY ABOUT GRADUATION CREDITS; BECAUSE SHE WRITES CHEERFUL NOTES TO KEEP IN TOUCH WITH GRADUATES IN THE SERVICE; BECAUSE SHE GREETS US IN THE HALLS AND CLASSROOMS ALWAYS WITH A SMILE; BECAUSE SHE HAS BEEN A BELOVED MEMBER OF THE SHORTRIDGE FACULTY FOR SEVERAL YEARS, WE, SENIORS DISAPPEARING WITH THE SPRING OF 1943, DEDICATE THIS LITERARY PROOF OF OUR EXISTENCE TO MISS DOROTHY PETERSON.

THE EDITOR

RESPONSE

DEAR SENIORS OF 1943,

I WANT EACH ONE OF YOU TO KNOW THAT I AM DEEPLY APPRECIATIVE OF THIS DEDICATION.

TO THOSE WHO HAVE ALREADY LEFT SCHOOL TO SERVE OUR COUNTRY AND TO THE HUNDREDS WHO WILL JOIN HER ARMED FORCES IN THE NEAR FUTURE, I SAY SINCERELY AND PRAYERFULLY, "MAY GOD BLESS YOU AND KEEP YOU SAFE."

MY ONE GREAT WISH FOR ALL OF YOU IS A WORLD OF PEACE--A WORLD IN WHICH YOU MAY HAVE NORMAL AND HAPPY LIVES AND ENJOY THE HERITAGE OF AMERICA WHICH IS SO RIGHTFULLY YOURS.

CORDIALLY YOURS,

Dorothy Peterson

COMMANDERS ON THE MARCH OF EDUCATION

For two years Dr. J. Dan Hull has been our chief administrator and mentor. We feel that it has been a privilege to work with him. His cultural viewpoint and scholastic ideals are an inspiration to all. Two other men, Joel W. Hadley and Emmett A. Rice, vice-principals, have been untiring in their efforts for Shortridge and have assisted the individual student and evidenced deep sympathy in his problems. It is through them that Shortridge has taken a vital part in the war effort this year. The students and the class sincerely appreciate their interest and friendship.

FACULTY IN SERVICE

Shortridge has suffered many changes and losses in the present war, but the greatest loss is that of members of the faculty, whose untiring guidance and leadership have meant so much to the student body.

We salute these members of Shortridge High School who have left to do a greater job in the Armed Forces. We hope they may return to us soon.

UNAFRAID

by Pat Burnett

I boarded the bus, and obtaining a seat with the usual difficulty, I sank down wearily on the worn leather, thanking my lucky stars that I was near a heater, and away from the bitter coldness. As soon as the bus was well on its way out of the downtown district, I tired of watching my fellow passengers and turned my eyes to my newspaper. War news, and not much of anything else, greeted my eyes. I read distractedly of warfare in Tunisia, Guadalcanal, and Africa. I tried to pronounce twenty-three letter words that were supposed to be the names of Russian towns. I glanced at the funnies. Then my eyes chanced on an advertisement for the "Pied Piper." I discarded the paper with distaste. I was not being unpatriotic, understand. I was not thinking just of myself, either, but of the thousands of children all over the world who were now too young to realize the meaning of this war. They would bear the brunt of it for the remainder of their lives.

As I sat there, brooding, two children, a boy and a girl, boarded the bus. The girl sat down in the only remaining seat and the boy stood a little way off from her as though he were trying to give the impression that he did not know her, but he kept his eye on her, just the same. The pair was unmistakably brother and sister. But their outward appearance was so — well — let me describe them for you.

The girl, eight or nine years old, was plump and small of stature. Her thick, dark brown hair was tied in fat pigtails which hung half-way down her back. She had a round, solemn face, a small red mouth with a smile lurking in its corners, and a pug nose that hardly made a dent in her face. But her eyes attracted me the most. They were large, round, sparkling, very brown in color, and they moved constantly as the girl viewed the people around her with that same absorbed expression that she had worn ever since she boarded the bus. She wore a tan coat with a small brown velvet collar, and her legs, encased in brown, cotton-ribbed stockings, did not quite reach the floor. A brown tam was pulled over her ears, and a red-plaid skirt peeked out from beneath her coat. She sat erect in her seat, and looked straight ahead. Occasionally she glanced at her brother, but was careful not to let him catch her doing so.

The boy, whose complexion was very dark, was about two years older than his sister. His brown hair was unruly, but its dampness proved that some effort had been taken in trying to plaster it down. His eyes, too, were brown; but, unlike his sister's, unfathomable. His mouth was held in a stern, straight line, which made his pert nose look somewhat out of place. On his feet were large clod-hoppers, and his white sweat-socks hung down over the tops of his shoes. One leg of his brown corduroy pants was rolled up. He wore a short leather jacket, open at the neck and displaying a dark green sweater over a blue striped shirt. Another sweater was tied around his waist by its sleeves, and it hung down below his jacket. Occasionally, he sent a brief, fond look in his sister's direction, but secretly.

As I watched them out of the corner of my eye, a peaceful feeling came over me. I settled myself more comfortably in my seat and the harrassed thoughts that had been in my mind only a few moments before, were there no longer. And, as I continued to gaze into the eyes of these children, I somehow felt more confident about the future. Here were two youths of today who would be the citizens of tomorrow. And, although they were very young, I liked the thought that they comprehended this fact. Something in their eyes— a certain unafraid outlook on life and things to come—made me feel secure in the thought that this boy and girl, and thousands more like them, would be there, waiting, after the war, to take over the job that their parents at home and their big brothers at war have left. They, and the generations after them, come what may, will continue to bear the torch of liberty, and will keep America free!

CONVERSATION PIECE

by Paul Wadleigh

Toby Andrews opened the big glass door and looked inside. The interior of the drug store was the same as ever. There was the juke box in the corner, the cracked marble counter, the stacks of unsold comic books, and the multitude of merchandise that all drug stores keep in stock but never seem to sell. The place was crowded. Students lined the counter and sat at the tables in the rear. It was toward one of these tables that he made his way through the smoke filled room.

"Well, team, whadaya think? Remington quit school to join the navy," he announced to the two other boys as he joined them at the table.

"No kidding?"

"When?"

"Just today," said Toby as he reached for a bottle of coke that had been sitting on the table.

"Oh, no you don't, you moocher." Wally indignantly pulled his bottle out of reach. "Lay off and buy your own nourishment."

"Is that straight goods about Remington?"

"Sure is. I saw him getting his stuff out of his locker. And if that isn't proof, then I don't know what is."

"My gosh. He's the third one this month," said Max, his book forgotten.

Toby went to the counter and ordered himself a malt. When he returned he shook a warning finger at them.

"It won't be long until we're in the army, my fine-feathered friends. This time next year we'll all be in the army or navy."

"Ye gods, Toby. You don't think they'll draft US, do you?" Wally sounded skeptical.

"Use your head, dopey. They passed the eighteen-year-old draft law, didn't they? Well . . .?" he paused suggestively.

"Anyway, you guys won't be laughing so hard at the R.O.T.C. . . . if that's any consolation," Max said gloomily. "But darn it all, I don't want to lug a gun for the rest of my days; I want to go to college and be an engineer."

"Oh, don't let that guy scare you," jeered Wally. "He's just talking to hear his teeth whistle. Since his old man's on a draft board he thinks he finds out everything before Roosevelt does." He finished his soda with a raspy gurgle. "Well chums, I gotta blow. Have a date with my woman. You know how it is with us Casanovas." Whistling cheerfully to himself, he started off in the direction of the door.

Max watched him leave. " 'Talking to hear his teeth whistle.' That guy uses more slang than a hundred coal miners."

"Yeah. And he gets it all out of the magazine articles on high school slang .He's the only guy I ever heard who talks as the writers say we do—. Hey! You leaving too? Wait a sec. I've got fifteen cents tied up in this malt and I don't want to lose my investment—"

Books in hand Max and Toby walked slowly down the street. Suddenly Max said, "Toby, this draft business gives me the willies. I'm kinda worried about it. What do you think?"

"Here's the way I look at it." Toby absently broke off a dead twig from a nearby bush and scratched his head with it. "My theory is, let it come. Dad thinks I ought to start out to college and get as far as I can before I'm drafted. But then, what the heck? I won't be the only guy who's had his plans made by Uncle Sam."

"I guess you're right, Toby. But I'll tell you one thing." Max kicked vehemently at an unoffending stone, "I think that guys like George Remington are making a big mistake when they leave school to join the navy. Why, they won't even have a high school diploma when all this is over."

"That's no lie," said Toby, snapping his twig and throwing it away. "They're missing the best part of school. Gosh, I've had more darn fun since I became a senior than at any other time."

"That's funny about school, isn't it? I don't feel like I've been in four years, do you?"

"Huh uh. I can remember some things just as clearly as if they happened yesterday. Remember when we were freshmen and cut into the head of the line in the cafeteria?"

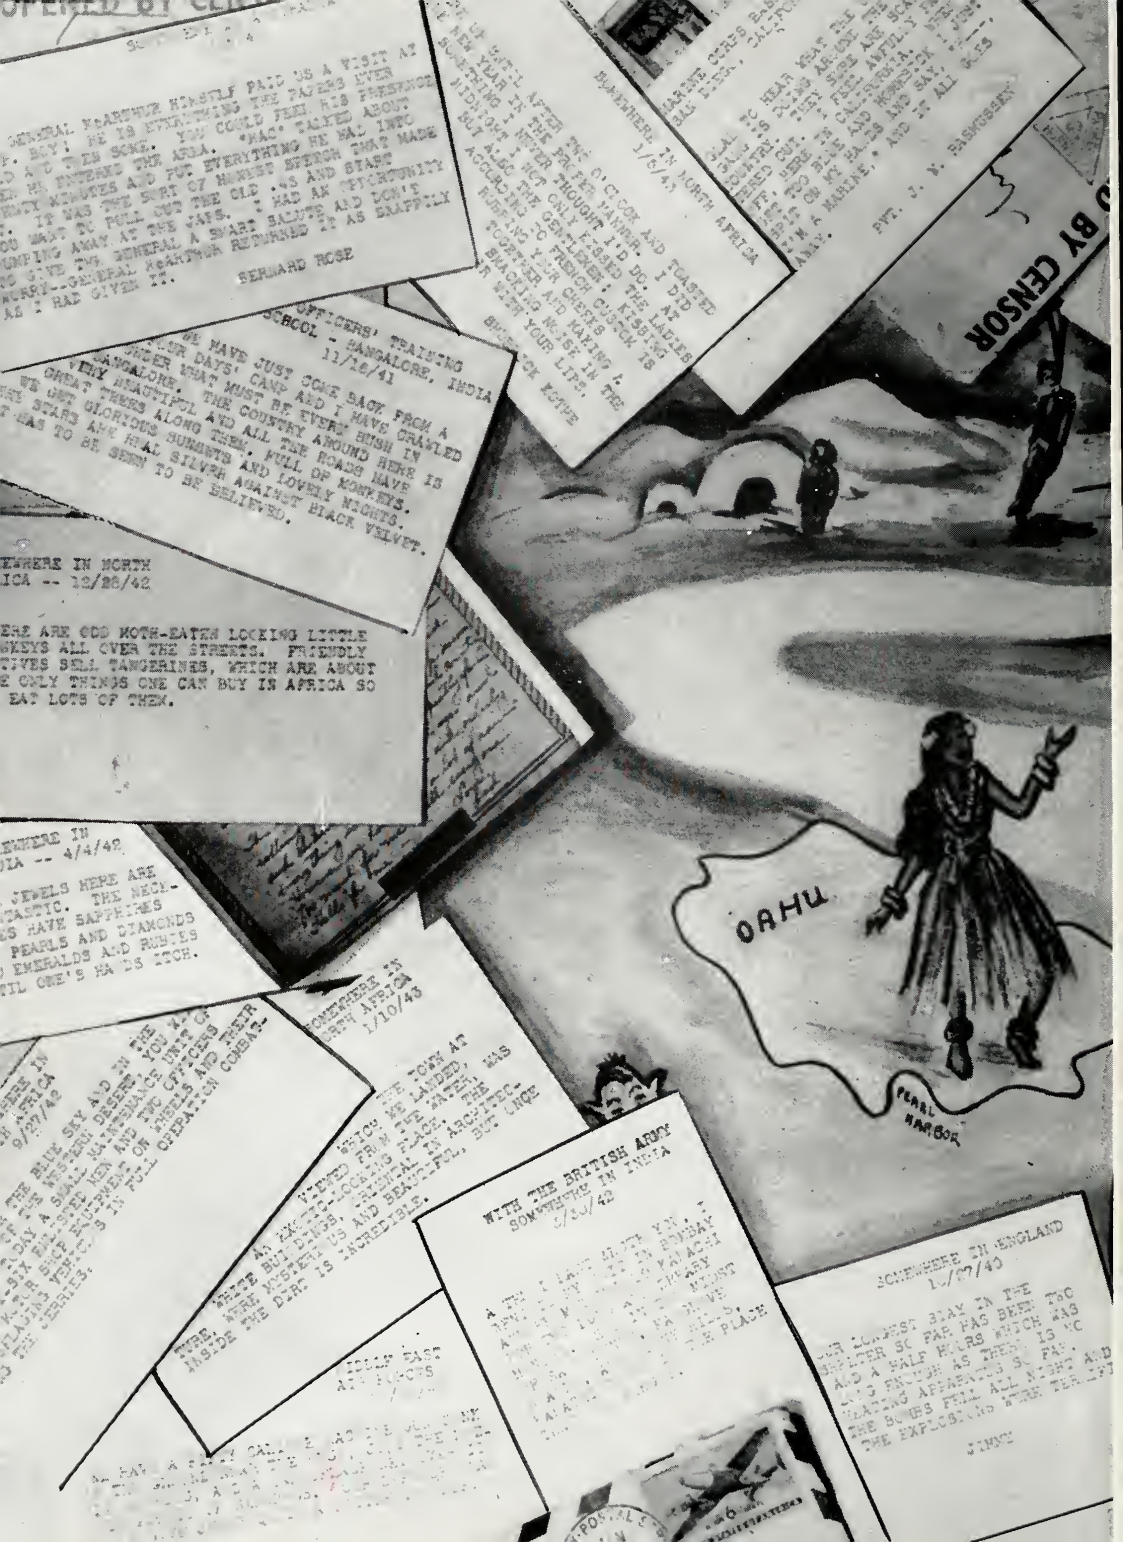

"How could I ever forget it?" said Max with a grin. "Boy! I'll never forget the dirty looks we got from the seniors." He remembered how serene and confident the upper-classmen had looked to him. And now four years later he was a senior himself; and far from feeling serene and confident, he was constantly harried by thoughts of the draft and college and the war.

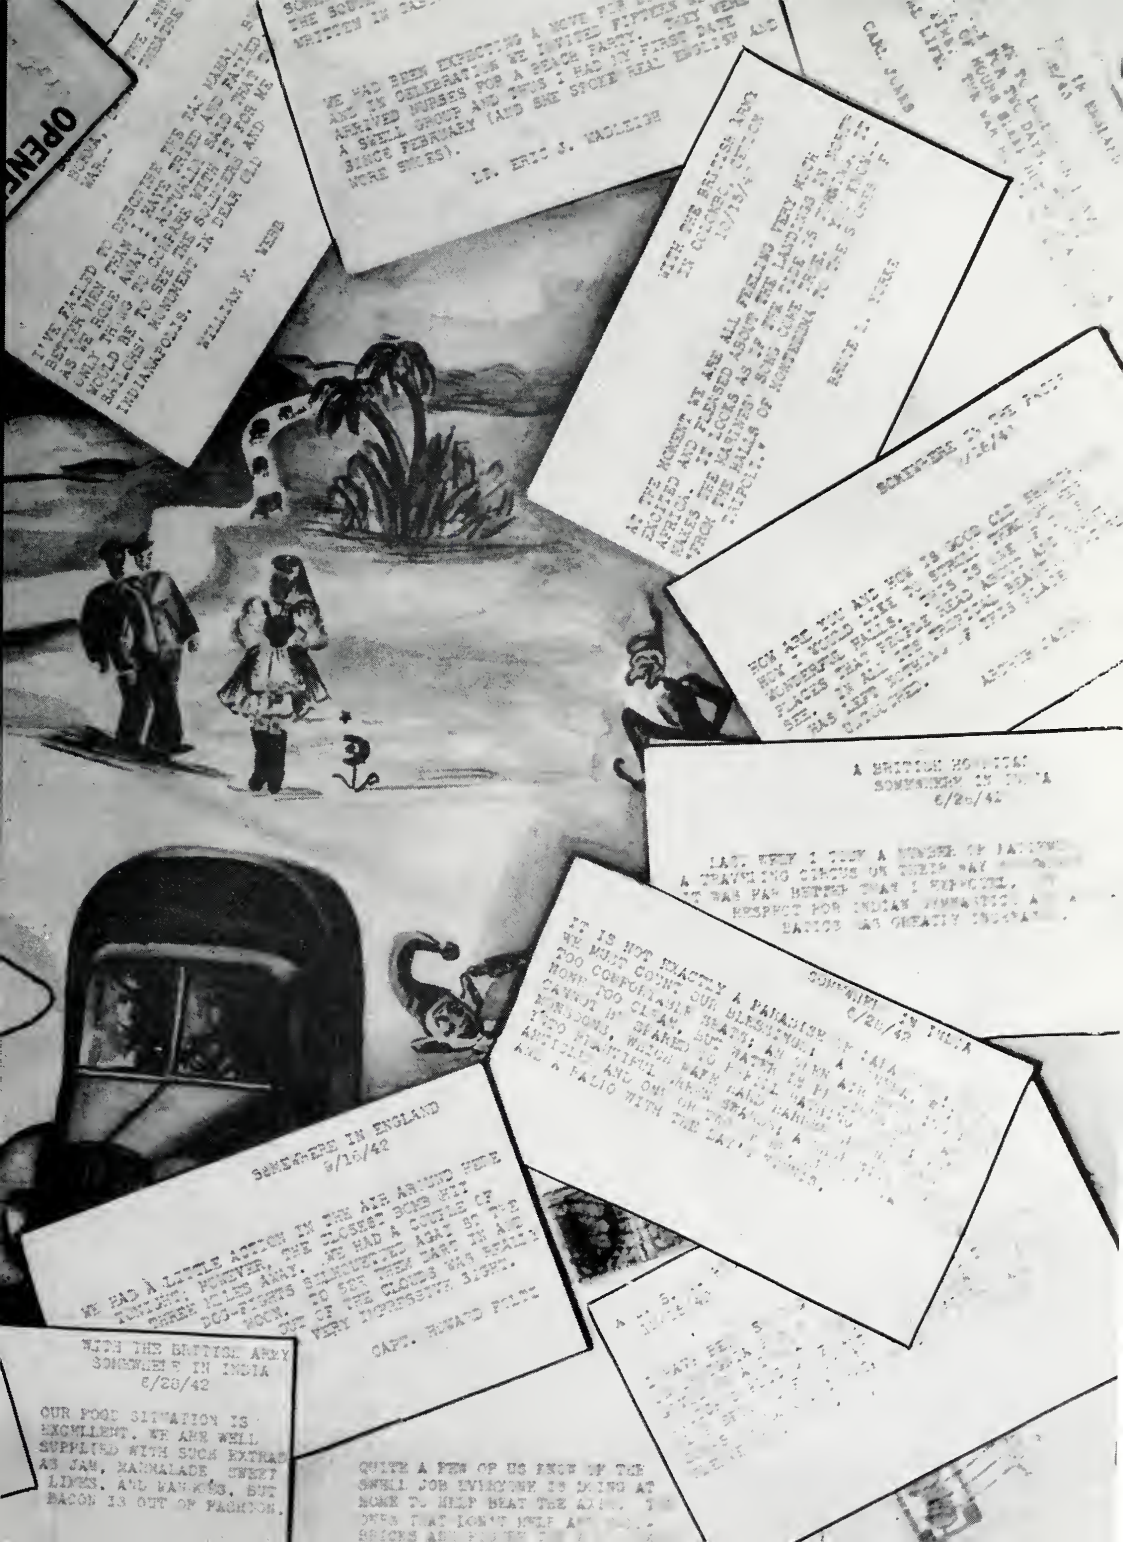

Toby was struck by a new thought: "Just think. When we were freshmen it was 1939 and the war was just getting under way. I sure didn't think we'd ever be in it . . . or that you and I would be wondering about military service."

"Yeah."

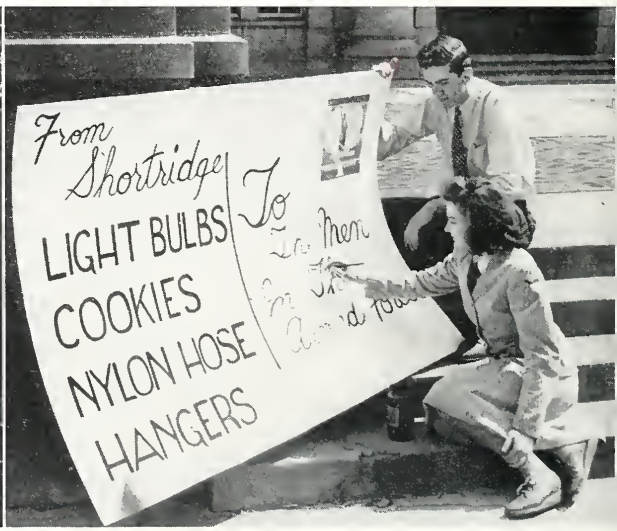

Side by side they walked on down the street, each intent on his own thoughts. Finally Max cried, "Hey! Snap out of it. We can't spend all day mooning about the war. That dance is next week, and we still have to get the decorations. Why, good heavens, man — we've got something IMPORTANT to worry about."

SHORTRIDGE VICTORY CORPS—A UNIT SHARING A NATIONAL PLAN

VICTORY CORPS ★

The Victory Corps, a nation-wide organization open to boys and girls sixteen years of age, was founded by the Offices of Civil Defense and Education in Washington in the fall of 1942. The purpose of this Corps is to mobilize high school youth for training in, participation in, and preparation for the American war effort. It was designed primarily to encourage young people to prepare themselves to take their place in important positions in fighting this war. The qualifications for membership, therefore, demand that the individual must be in training for active duty. The Victory Corps has spent some time in decorating several display windows on "The Marines" and "The Victory Corps' Shields."

In order that the service men at the U. S. O. might enjoy home made cookies, Miss Dorthea Paige organized the Cookie Jar of Shortridge last spring. It is kept full by social clubs and individuals who donate cookies.

STUDENT BOARD

The Student Board has devoted its time and energy to the war effort, striving toward three aims which it has chosen as timely and highly important: to enroll all Shortridge students in some phase of the Victory Corps, to promote any drive or war effort, and to sell war stamps. School problems such as keeping the campus attractive, provisions for bicycles, hall discipline, and social activities have also been managed efficiently and with student approval.

The Student Board was organized to combine the Student Council, Social Committee, and the Victory Council. Meetings are held every Wednesday. Composed of many students, it has been democratic in its aim and beneficial to the school. Representatives to the Board are chosen from each home room, and the officers are elected by ballot at the beginning of each year. The officers are Don Ambuhl, president; Maxine Bridgman, vice-president and treasurer, who has taken the place of Jim McCoy; and Mary Ann Gamso, secretary, who has taken the place of Ned Hendrickson. Miss Charlotte Bruce, of the English Department, is the sponsor.

STUDENT BOARD OFFICERS

Front row: H. Frisch, G. Sandler, E. Johnson, E. Hilgenberg, D. Burget, P. Little, N. Wade, J. Stewart, J. Lyda, E. Wiest, A. Roberts, N. Morrow, N. Griener, H. Nepple, J. Stacy, P. Jay. Second row: R. Jones, N. Glass, M. Patton, D. Overley, R. Dwyer, V. DuBois, J. Hixon, J. Faulconer, D. Hosmer, B. Lanson, J. Swaim, B. Welch, J. Eldridge, B. Sterret, A. Schwarzleder, B. J. Myers, P. Hammond, E. Iovine, J. L. Small, N. Rawlings, M. Bishop, C. Glossbrenner, Miss C. Bruce. Back row: L. Wolf, C. Efromyson, D. Kahn, B. Mintz, J. Miller, B. Barrett, B. Chevalier, B. Davis, D. Sexon, J. Wilson, T. Hendrickson, L. Belder, B. Lindstaedt, N. E. Hill, B. Fishback, J. Thompson, E. Porter.

GIRLS' BOWLING

The Girls' Bowling League, sponsored by Miss Naomi A. Fike and Miss Norma Miller, was organized to promote the physical fitness of its members, as well as to develop their bowling skill. The girls are divided into teams of which the "Go-getters," captained by Betty Kendall, and the "Victoryettes," whose captain was Joan Lawson, were the winning teams. Contributing their bit to the community, the girls made War Stamp corsages for L. S. Ayres and Company and for our Junior Vaudeville. The fall semester officers were Ida May Payne, president; Jean Gross, vice-president; Joan Lawson, secretary; Evelyn Shertzer, treasurer; and Barbara Johnson, publicity agent.

Front row: L. Lasbury, N Jewel, M. Brown. Second row: J. Lavere, B. Parish, M. Holloway, B. Kendall. Back row: J. Gross, Miss N. Miller, E. Shertzer, I. M. Payne, M. Fairburn, J. Pickering.

BOYS' BOWLING

Besides promoting healthful recreation, the Boys' Bowling League contributes to our war effort by awarding War Stamps as prizes to the winning teams. The League, which meets every Tuesday afternoon at the Parkway Alleys, is divided into eight teams: "The High Five," "The Jerks," "The Strike Kings," "The Thunderbolts," "The Dubs," "The Gunner's Gentlemen," and "The Hungry Five," the winning team last year. A tournament held the first Tuesday following spring vacation climaxed the season. Lester Groth and P. Ward Holladay are sponsors; William Mayer, president; and John Fardee, secretary.

The Hi-Tri Club, under the direction of the Y.W.C.A., is sponsored at Shortridge by Miss Dale Waterbury. In cooperation with other branches of the club, the Shortridge Hi-Tri has aided war time salvage drives, made scrapbooks for the U. S. O., and taken a course in child care to help mothers who are employed. The club holds meetings at Shortridge on alternate Wednesdays and meets with other Hi-Tri Clubs of the city twice monthly to enjoy a dinner at the Y.W.C.A. The officers are president, Betty Hubble; vice-president, Clarice Krampe; secretary, Joan Robinson; treasurer, Irma Krampe.

HI-TRI

Front row: C. Krampe, C. Shockley, C. I. McCubbins, F. Arney, A. Boye, B. Hubble, P. Heman. Second row: Miss Waterbury, J. Robinson, W. Kean, J. Johnson, P. Knop, D. Pine. Third row: Mrs. J. R. Montgomery (adviser), B. Byrne, B. Trotter, B. Johnson, J. Benham, H. Miles. Back row: M. B. Parks, E. J. Krampe.

Front row: R. Fishback, L. Wolf, D. Decker, B. Kramer, W. Klinge, J. Rupel, D. Kahn, J. Martin, J. Stokes. Second row: D. Greenleaf, M. Bowen, M. Shively, M. J. Hazelwood, P. Markey, K. Denbo, P. Little, A. Snethen, B. Marcum, Mr. Johnson. Back row: M. Compton, J. Sherwood, D. Giles, B. Kirk, E. Jennings, J. Black, B. Fifer, J. Morehous, L. Watters.

CHEM CLUB

Under the sponsorship and direction of the Chemistry Club, used light bulbs were collected in the home rooms. The metal screw on the bulbs, valuable in manufacturing war materials, made this project timely. The club's meetings are held every two weeks under Mr. Johnson's sponsorship. Among their speakers were Mr. Wade, Mr. Geisler, and Miss Elizabeth McMeans, a Shortridge graduate, now at the Pittman-Moore Company. The Chemistry Club is one of the charter members of the Indiana Junior Academy of Science. Officers are Beth Fifer, president; John Martin, vice-president; Marianne Compton, secretary; Walt Klinge, treasurer; Dave Decker, publicity agent.

MATH CLUB

Front row: N. Morrow, B. Jardine, I. B. Barnes, E. J. Coughlen. Second row: R. Miller, G. Gianakos, P. Good, Goodlet, J. Osborn, E. Ott, J. Lyda, M. McConnell, B. L. Mansfield, J. King. Third row: Miss Ocker, E. Jacobsen, M. Turk, J. Redwine, J. Sherwood, M. Compton, V. DuBois. Fourth row: M. Walker, E. Jennings, N. Stoeppelwerth, E. Ulrich, B. J. Morrison, M. O. Smith, M. Osborn. Back row: P. Rudolph, R. A. Simpson, D. Apple, R. Fishback, M. Henshaw, N. Cissna.

To do their share for victory, the members of the Math Club offered their services as tutors. Students requested help in mathematics because of its importance in the present situation. Meetings, sponsored by Miss Ellen Ocker, are held on alternate Mondays. Among their speakers were Mr. Burton, Mr. Carnahan, and Mr. Geisler. At Christmas the members were guests of the Girl Scout Club, where a Naval Signal Corps instructor was speaker. Officers are Martha McConnell and Virginia Dubois, presidents; Mary Henshaw and Ellen Jacobson, vice-presidents; Marian and Janey Osborn, secretaries; Dave Welch and Elizabeth Ott, treasurers.

For girls interested in athletics, Shortridge has provided the Philateron Club, whose aim is to promote physical fitness. To become a member a girl must earn five hundred points. These points are obtained through participation in gym exhibitions, efficiency contests, and other athletic events. Their meetings are held on alternate Tuesdays at one of the girls' homes. On January 20, they gave a party for service men at Joyce Hesler's home. The officers this year are president, Joan Stelzel; vice-president, Betty Nicholson; secretary, Ruth Ann George; treasurer, Suzy Schaub; sergeant-at-arms, Joanne Lawson. The sponsor is Miss Rosemary O'Hara.

Front row: D. Bulau, C. Thompson. Second row: B. Rich, D. Aufderheide, B. Beazell, J. Judson, D. Bose, B. Koster. Back row: Mr. Seimers.

The Radio Club, whose members are both girls and boys, is really a class in its self. This club teaches each of its members to build his own radio set, which gives him an ideal chance to learn about radios through practical experience. Since radio is one of our most important methods of receiving information and is almost essential to our war program, the Radio Club is one of Shortridge's busiest organizations. Don Aufderhiede presides over the meetings, which are held every Thursday with Bud Beazell acting as treasurer and Mr. Siemers and Mr. Holaday as sponsors.

SENATE

Topics related to war problems have dominated the discussions of the Senate this year. Current subjects such as taxation, rationing, and the draft were considered. In 1887, Miss Laura Donnan founded the Senate and sponsored it until her retirement in 1925. Since that time Russell Sigler had wisely guided the Senate at its meetings on Fridays until he was recommissioned by the army in January, 1943. For the duration, Miss Annalee Webb is acting as sponsor. The leaders for this year were Burton Randolph, Dick Freeman, Eugene VanArsdel, presidents; Marianne Frankel, Neal Randolph, Dick Hathaway, vice-presidents.

COMMANDOS

The Commandos were organized in March, 1942, by Mrs. Della Thompson. This organization was started expressly for the purpose of collecting articles wanted by our armed forces. The twenty-two squads of twelve girls each are at work securing the following items: cards, magazines, records, and cookies. These donations are b r o u g h t to Mrs. Thompson's office, where the contributors are accredited with a certain number of service points for each article. The contributions are then added to the supply at the Victory Center. A great amount of work has been accomplished through the efforts of the girls.

FICTION CLUB

The Fiction Club, sponsored by Miss Ruth Louise Armstrong, participated in war activities this year in addition to making its regular contrbution to the Christmas Echo and Annual. The boys worked in the U. S. O. check rooms; the girls baked cookies for the S. M. C. cookie jar. The club as a whole contributed to the book and magazine collection for the Service Men. Meetings are held monthly at members' homes, where various committees present the programs. The presidents are Fred Fitchey and Walter Brown; vice-presidents, Dottie Davis and Hadassah Frisch; secretaries, Martine Horne and Rosemary Jones.

Front row: C. Haught, S. Miller, A. Hymer, A. Lindstaedt, M. Dietrich, J. Fogle, J. A. Campbell. Back row: D. Kahn, J. Glossbrenner, H. Wichser, J. Brock, L. Lindly, M. J. De Vatz, C. Margolis, J. Losche.

RADIO SCRIPT CLUB

The Radio Workshop, under the sponsorship of Miss Mary Glenn Hamilton, is one of the newest clubs at Shortridge and one of the most active in war work. The club has presented twelve programs over stations WIRE and WISH. There are two divisions of the club: the Script Club, whose president is Jacquie Losche, and the Production Club, whose president is Herman Wichser. The Script Club prepares the skits; the Production Club broadcasts them. Many of the club's bi-weekly programs are scripts prepared by the United States Treasury Department which promote the sale of Stamps and Bonds.

Collecting playing cards for the service men was the war project undertaken in the fall semester by the members of the S.P.Q.R. under the sponsorship of Miss Josephine Davidson. More than 300 decks of playing cards were sent to Fort Harrison, Camp Atterbury, and the U. S. O. The purpose of the S.P.Q.R. in the past has been to encourage interest in the classics and to enlarge the members' classical background. They stress the importance of interpretation of current problems and the modern sciences. This year they omitted their customary benefit movie to raise money for a Latin scholarship, and instead bought a fifty-dollar War Bond. The works of the Latin authors, Horace and Pliny, were emphasized at the monthly meetings. Those who are in their third year of Latin with a "B" average and who write a theme dealing with classical subjects qualify for membership. The officers are Ray Stone, Diana Van Geyt, presidents; Virginia Dubois, Helga Nepple, vice-presidents; Vonnie Bowen, Ellen Jacobsen, secretaries; John Miller, Tom Campbell, treasurers.

DRAMA LEAGUE

The Drama League, sponsored by Miss Eleanor Dee Theek, has participated in many activities that have aided the war effort. The club entertained service men at Fort Benjamin Harrison, and on November 20, sponsored "The MacMurray Chin," the proceeds of which were donated to the Shortridge War Committee fund. Some of the members also lent their talents to auditorium programs, the Calvin Prather Masonic Lodge, the Altrusa Club, and the Nettie Ransford Chapter of the Eastern Star. On January 21, the club entertained its new members with a party. The Drama League welcomes all students who are interested in acting, directing, or writing plays. The officers are Phyllis Grams, president; Mary Hall, vice-president; Betty Cramer, recording secretary; Dick Tribbe, point secretary; and Dotty Davis, treasurer.

HI-Y

The main project of the Hi-Y Club this year has been the stimulation of war stamp purchases by competition. This has been done by keeping a record of the number of stamps bought by each home room and placing placards in the home rooms in the first ten places. The club, under the sponsorship of Howard Wright, is the high school branch of the Y.M.C.A. and has access to the Y.M.C.A. gym once a week. Officers are John Jordan, president; Charles Marks, vice-president; Walter Wesp, secretary; Paul Johnson, treasurer; and Robert Russo, sergeant-at-arms.

TRUE BLUE CLUB

The True Blue Club, under the sponsorship of Mrs. Della Thompson, Dean of Girls, has contributed much to the war effort. Out of the money which was earned at the refreshment stand at the football games, thirty-five dollars was spent for a ping pong table and other articles for a recreation room at Camp Atterbury. Miss Elizabeth Brayton donated a victrola and Miss Beth Wilson contributed a piano to the club for this room. The largest department of the the True Blue Club is the Big Sisters, which is headed by Jean Gross. The duty of this group is to show the incoming freshmen around the school. Each girl takes a student through the building to show her to her classrooms and the various departments of the school. Another division of the True Blue Club is the Social and Newcomers' department, which is headed by Jean Sutton. They acquaint new students from out of town, with the school. Each semester this department has a mixer meeting for new students. Shortridge stickers are sold in the halls at periodic intervals under the direction of Beverly Gunther. The Necrology department, headed by Alice Capron, extends sympathy to the students who have lost a member of their family. They also send a notice to the students' teachers. June Goodrich is the president of the True Blue Club.

Sitting: J. Gross, H. Combs, B. Carter, A. Capron, H. Doyal. Standing: Mr. Rice, J. Sutton, B. Guthner, Miss Brayton, J. A. Goodrich, Mrs. Thompson.

CROQUIS CLUB

Front row: J. E. Everson, Miss J. Messick, P. Cartwright, J. E. Yakey, D. Ransdell, P. Grams, G. Suerdieck, F. Morgan, D. Giles, D. Brinkman, M. E. Billau. Back row: J. Richardson, J. Caldwell, R. Kahn, J. A. Krauch, M. Dreiss, R. A. Heidenreich, T. Mentzer, A. M. Koontz, C. Robinson, M Compton, P. Smith, P. Lynch, E. Lane.

During the past year, the members of the Croquis Club have done a great deal in helping with the Shortridge war effort. At the beginning of the semester, the officers, together with the sponsor, Miss Jane Messick, decided on a plan which they thought would give the most support to our campaign. The club was to be divided into volunteer groups which were to work after school several days a week. The plan was successful, and the club has accomplished many projects, such as lettering signs and painting boxes for the Victory Center and arranging window displays. They also painted states, cut from wall board, which are being used as decorative registration boards at the Illinois Street Service Men's Center, and lettered charts, which are being used as office information at the Wabash Street Service Men's Center.

However, with all these activities, the members have not neglected the usual affairs of the club. They visited the Living American Artists' Club's exhibit, held at the John Herron Art Institute, the Indiana Artists' Club's exhibit, and the Hoosier Salon exhibit. The club also gave a demonstration, painting and sketching a member in a nurse's aid uniform, for the visitors at the Scholastic Exhibit in March at Block's. The officers are Patti Cartwright, president; Julie Richardson, vice-president; Rose Ann Heidenreich, secretary; and Jo Ann Krauch, treasurer.

LE CERCLE FRANCAIS

As their war contribution, Le Cercle Francais, sponsored by Mrs. Gertrude F. Weathers and Miss Lorree Maranville, collected salvage and made five-dollar donations to the Red Cross and the French War Relief. A window display entitled "How Is Your French Today?" showed the French expressions used in everyday English. The business meetings are conducted in English, and the programs in French. This year's programs consisted of playlets, crossword puzzles, talks, games, and a "grand fete." Mary Henshaw is president; Eulah Davis and Jo Ann Baker, vice-presidents; Anastasia Schwarzleder and Eulah Davis, secretaries; Phil Walker and Jeanette Radtke, treasurers.

Front row: Mrs. G. Weathers, M. Bowen, M. J. Honecker, A. Schwarzleder, J. Allen, M. Lynch. Second row: M. Surber, J. Schumacher, C. Mahalowitz, J. Radtke, L. Reed. Third row: V. Haas, J. J. Huffman, E. Davis, N. Hull, P. Hagedon, A. Hancock, J. Sawyer, Miss L. Maranville. Back row: S. Talesnick, J. A. Baker, J. Millis.

GIRL SCOUTS

The Girl Scout Club, sponsored by Mrs. Rachel Schumacher, had several speakers whose work coincided with the war effort. Among these, Mrs. George Ziegler, who is in charge of the Marion County Civilian Defense, explained the program which entails the work of civilians. Mrs. Dorothy Buschmann, who is in charge of the Service Men's Clubs, told of different types of entertainment for the boys in uniform. Beginning February 8, the club opened its meetings to all girls interested in participating in a child care course. Jane Curle is the president; Dorothy Giles, vice-president; and Hyla Doyal, secretary-treasurer.

FOOTLIGHT CLUB

The Footlight Club, sponsored by Miss Barbara Turner, has promoted entertainment for the service men near or in Indianapolis. Two musical productions were presented at the Naval Training Station, Butler University, and one at the Tent Colony, Fort Harrison. Dance orchestras, choruses of dancing girls, and community singing were featured. The only requirement for membership is interest. Each act is assigned to a group, a cast is selected, and the act is perfected. The program is then approved for production. John Ayres founded the club. Paul Lennon is president; Sally Mitchell, vice-president; and Dotty Davis, secretary.

Front row: I. B. Barnes, M. Lynch, N. Wilder, D. Young, J. Gates. Second row: R. A. Perry, C. Robinson, Eliz. Iovine, E. Iovine, N. Wade, J. Stewart, J. Lyda, J. Eldridge, E. Tykle, S. Mitchell. Third row: F. A. Roth, V. Peters, D. Keilman, J. Servass, E. Sagalowsky, A. Berman, M. Friedman, C. MacAlowitz, J. Richardson, S. Ramey. Fourth row: V. Bowen, T. Mauch, P. Rudolph, J. Goodrich, C. Drake, A. Dunlap, M. Poynter. Back row: A. Metzger, D. Davis, J. Pettijohn, M. Bridgman, D. Hill, J. Rawlings, P. Lennon, Miss B. Turner, E. Hilgenburg, D. MacDougall.

GERMAN CLUB

The German Club, sponsored by Miss Louise Reiter, has joined the Allies and is doing interesting war work. The girls in the club knitted an afghan from yarn bought by the club and contributed by the members. War Stamps have been purchased voluntarily and added to the club stamp book. Members have donated magazines to the Shortridge Victory Center. Officers for the first semester were president, Hans Steilberger; vice-president, Marianne Buschmann; secretary, Carol Ann Fliegenschmidt; and treasurer, Myron Kasle. Second semester officers were president, Hans Steilberger; vice-prsident, Naomi Stoeppelworth; secretary, Carol Thoms; and treasurer, Paul Meyers.

Tuerk, J. Federman, C. Kimler.

RED CROSS

The Shortridge chapter of the Junior Red Cross Association, sponsored by Opal G. Conrad, was organized in 1936. The club has been very busy this year doing what it could to help our armed forces and the Senior Red Cross. In their local work, they have helped in the Canteen Division of the Senior Red Cross and in the national salvage drives. The girls have also made many useful knitted articles as their contribtuion to the armed forces. The officers are president, Carolyn Smith; secretary-treasurer, Joan Watson; recording secretary, Norma Jean Butts; and magazine publicity chairman, Gloria Feezle.

L. Bluestein, S. Talesnick, J. Blue, M. Brown, J. Losche, J. Redwine, J. Fogle, B. Mann, B. Prince, A. Manolios, M. Manolios, B. Brown, N. Shelby, B. A. Parish, B. Kendall, D. Baker, L. Rowe, C. Margolis, F. A. Roth, D. Courtney, C. Smith, B. Sherow, I. M. Payne, E. Shirtzer ,E. Clari, B. J. Stucky, M. J. Fairburn, M. Holloway, B. Windt, J. Gross, M. Dietrick, L. Lasbury, C. Lambert, N. Jewell, Mrs. O. G. Conrad.

HORIZON CLUB

As an activity for the war effort, some of the Horizon Club members have been attending a special course in the care of children. This training will prepare them to take charge of small children whose parents are engaged in war work. Some Horizon Club girls have been members of Camp Fire groups during their earlier years, but the club is open to all girls. The girls meet monthly in a city wide group with members from other Horizon Clubs. The president is Betty Bertrand; the secretary-treasurer, Rosemary Garrison; and the sponsor, Miss Mona Jane Wilson.

Seated: N. Jones, B. Bertrand, G. Lightle, E. Edwards, P. Mayhew, V. Brickey, M. Wright, S. Braun. Standing: R. Garrison, Miss M. J. Wilson.

HISTORY CLUB

This year the History Club has concentrated on war information. The latest news bulletins, placed in a window display by the club, kept Shortridge informed as to our country's status in the global war. Members have worked on a scrapbook containing all the articles that have been in the Echo pertaining to the war. Among these are lists of graduates in the services, stories of Shortridge heroes, and the war work of school clubs. Paul Seehausen and Miss Dana Lansley sponsor the club. George Finney is president; Betty Jo Morrison, vice - president; Patricia Heustis, secretary; and Roddy Howey, treasurer.

AUDITORIUM COMMITTEE

A new organization has been formed this year to give more student participation in arrangement of auditorium programs. Miss Nora Thomas was chosen faculty director, and she, in turn, appointed Joan Bartley as student director.

Other committee members were Don Ambuhl, Sally Mitchell, and Bob Klein. Sally Stewart has helped in writing scripts and Bill Nordyke, John Pardee, and Dick Hill in operating the lights.

The auditoriums have been both educational and entertaining, with programs that included talented alumni, musical organizations of the school, well-known speakers of the city, pep meetings, and student variety programs. The plan has the complete approval of the students and the faculty.

DEBATE

Shortridge has reason to be proud. To add to her many victories, her debating team, under the supervision of Clarence C. Shoemaker, carried off the state debating crown for the second time in four years.

Due to the war and war activities, debating was put on a limited scale. The Tri-State League failed to function altogether, and even the traditional debate between Walnut Hills of Cincinnati and Shortridge was discontinued. Shortridge was, however, very active in the Indiana State Debating League.

In preparation for the Indiana State Debating League opportunities for practice debates were had in the debate tournament held at Warren Central and Rushville High Schools. The schools which participated in the tournament at Warren Central were Shortridge, Rushville, Wiley of Terre Haute, Gertsmeyer of Terre Haute, Warren Central, Crispus Attucks, and Washington. Shortridge, Wiley, Gertsmeyer, Garfield of Terre Haute, Elwood, and Hamilton of Ohio participated in the tournament at Rushville High School.

After having won its district title over Warren Central and Crispus Attucks, the debating team had more practice debates with the freshman teams at DePauw University. At the final rounds at Manchester on Friday and Saturday, March 26 and 27, Shortridge defeated Nappanee; then after having won over LaPorte in the semi-finals, Shortridge succeeded in defeating George Rogers Clark High of Hammond for the State championship.

Sylvia Miller and Richard Seehausen were affirmative speakers, while Betsy Ancker and Bernard Landman upheld the negative. The question was Resolved: That a Federal World Government Should Be Established.

Prof. Paul Geisenhoff from Michigan State College was the judge.

This is the first year for the champions in debating competition. Out of twelve tryouts, eight students were chosen to participate in tournaments at Warren Central and Rushville. Following the Warren Central and Rushville tournaments, four were chosen for the two varsity teams.

Miss Minnie Lloyd, Charles J. Wilkerson, and Clarence C. Shoemaker were judges.

Betsy Ancker also won first place in the State Discussion League Contest at Indiana University, April 10.

Under Al J. Kettler, students acquire valuable training that will be remembered all of their lives. Echo readers owe gratitude to Mr. Kettler for his untiring work in making the "Shortridge Daily Echo" a tradition worth preserving.

The past year marked an era in the Shortridge Daily Echo and a milestone in journalism at Shortridge. For the first time in the Echo's fifty-five year history, the five separate staffs were consolidated under one sponsor.

ECHO

The Shortridge Daily Echo has come a long way since it was established as the first American high school daily. The smoothness and coordination that now mark the daily publication have been built up and developed by the students and teachers connected with it during the last half century. Five separate staffs under their respective editors share the entire responsibility of providing the news stories, editorials, features, sports columns, and the make-up of the daily four page lay-out. The material is checked by the sponsor, Al J. Kettler, and is turned over to Lynn Boyd, the school's linotype artist. With the aid of the print shop employees, the Echo is set up and run off on the Shortridge press. The subscription manager, Walter C. Geisler, has charge of the circulation and distribution of the paper which is delivered to all of the home rooms. Every member of the Echo staff, from the youngest cub reporter to the local Home Room agent is striving to build up the tradition of the "Shortridge Echo" to enable the student body to receive the highest type of journalism in the most efficient manner.

★ SPECIAL RE-PRINT

The column on the right is an exact copy of one which appeared in the Echo on December 1, 1943. It is representative of the fact that the present feeling of change has been evident to our student body. The writer formed his own style of easy informality and wrote weekly commentaries on the many problems and events invading our school life. After hurried completion of necessary credits in January, the author, with a large number of other early graduates, left Shortridge, to begin pre-medical training at Indiana University.

CHRISTMAS ECHO ★

World War I did not stop student activities at Shortridge nor did World War II. The presses for the Daily Echo rolled then as they do today. The Christmas Echo, a yearly feature of the Daily Echo, was published and distributed in '17 and, as tradition goes, the copies of the '42 editon were received by all who subscribed.

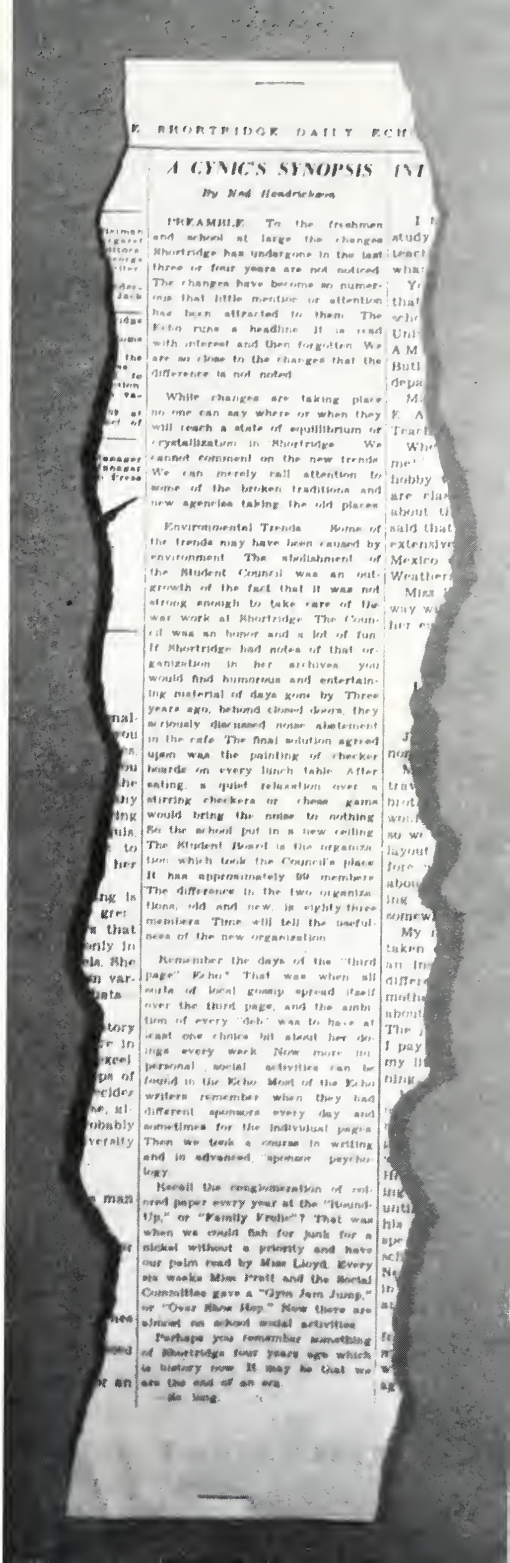

The class of '43 was well represented in the Christmas Echo, not only by many contributions but also in its editorial staff. Sally Stewart was editor-in-chief, while Richard Hill headed the literary staff and Toddy Kixmiller edited the personals. Louanna McCreary covered girls' sports and Beverly Guthner headed the art staff. Beverly also drew the very attractive cover. Bernadine Hay had many contributions in the line of poetry and also was editor of the poetry staff. Tom Koch handled the boys' sports; Martine Horne and Marjorie Turk coedited the feature staff; Keith Green was editor of the Echo's humor.

Many of the stories were contributed by the Fiction Club, sponsored by Miss Ruth Louise Armstrong. The Shortridge Echo press printed the copies and much praise is due to their splendid job. Robert Grubbs and H. H. Seimers had charge of all the photography work. The '42 edition was the first edition sponsored by Al J. Kettler.

The Echo was a thirty-two page edition and contained both serious and humorous features. There was so much good material left over that a special eight page Daily Echo was printed. It was a gift from the staff of the Christmas Echo to the Daily Echo.

CORRESPONDENCE CLASS ★

The Correspondence Class prepares copy for the Indianapolis daily and neighborhood weekly newspapers, and keeps the Shortridge Service File up to date. During the first semester Joan Dearmin, Carol St. Clair, and Pat Burnett were in charge of this activity, and were aided the second semester by Joan Werner, Marge Turk, and Jacquie Losche. The Service File numbers nearly three thousand names which are supplied by advanced journalism students. Assignments to papers are as follows: Reiman Steeg, "Star" sports desk; Marge Turk, "Star" city desk; Victor J. Barry, "Times" sports and city desk; Richard Hill, "News" sports and city desk; and Pat Burnett, "North Side Topics."

SHORTRIDGE DAILY ECH

A CYNIC'S SYNOPSIS IN

By Ned Hendrickson

PREAMBLE. To the freshmen and school at large the changes Shortridge has undergone in the last three or four years are not noticed. The changes have become so numerous that little mention or attention has been attracted to them. The Echo runs a headline. It is read with interest and then forgotten. We are so close to the changes that the difference is not noted.

While changes are taking place, no one can say where or when they will reach a state of equilibrium or crystallization in Shortridge. We cannot comment on the new trends. We can merely call attention to some of the broken traditions and new agencies taking the old places.

Environmental Trends. Some of the trends may have been caused by environment. The abolishment of the Student Council was an outgrowth of the fact that it was not strong enough to take care of the war work at Shortridge. The Council was an honor and a lot of fun. If Shortridge had notes of that organization in her archives you would find humorous and entertaining material of days gone by. Three years ago, behind closed doors, they seriously discussed some abatement in the cafe. The final solution agreed upon was the painting of checker boards on every lunch table. After eating, a quiet relaxation over a stirring checkers or chess game would bring the noise to nothing. So the school put in a new ceiling. The Student Board is the organization which took the Council's place. It has approximately 99 members. The difference in the two organizations, old and new, is eighty-three members. Time will tell the usefulness of the new organization.

Remember the days of the "third page" Echo? That was when all sorts of local gossip spread itself over the third page, and the ambition of every Deb was to have at least one choice bit about her doings every week. Now more impersonal social activities can be found in the Echo. Most of the Echo writers remember when they had different sponsors every day and sometimes for the individual pages. Then we took a course in writing and in advanced sponsor psychology.

Recall the conglomeration of colored paper every year at the "Round-Up," or "Family Frolic"? That was when we could fish for junk for a nickel without a priority and have our palm read by Miss Lloyd. Every six weeks Miss Pratt and the Social Committee gave a "Gym Jam Jump," or "Over Shoe Hop." Now there are almost no school social activities.

Perhaps you remember something of Shortridge four years ago which is history now. It may be that we are the end of an era.

ANNUAL

The staff of this year's Annual has had to face many difficulties which would not have occurred in normal times. When the cameras were closed and the ink was dry, it was found that each editor had come through with flying colors.

The liner staff was the first to be organized with Pat Rudolph as head. Art editor Barbara Breining turned out art and layouts up to standard. Fred Fitchey edited senior pictures and did a fine job of coping with busy seniors. Joan Speicher and Lynn Sumner co-edited club pictures and general photography. Frannie Robinson, identification editor, procured names of members in all club pictures and ran errands for the co-ordinator. The club staff worked efficiently under the executive ability of Mary Walker. Marge Foltz and her literary staff did wonders with the remaining write-ups and student contributions. Football, basketball, et al were handled by Reiman Steeg, and Louanna McCreary saw that girls' sports were represented. Tom Koch worked as publicity editor with the business manager, Don Ambuhl. Don managed the finances splendidly, and kept his home room agents on the job. Proof editor Virginia Dubois and her assistant Pat Heustis cheerfully spent many hours correcting copy and galley proofs. All written material was typed by copy editor Frieda Arney. Catey Glossbrenner, editor-in-chief, had a finger in everything and tried to keep everyone happy.

JUNIOR MINUTES
CLASS OF '44

On November 24, 1942, the Juniors chose the following officers: Cecil Freihofer, president; Jane Briggs, vice-president; Patty Aspinall, secretary; James Cooley, treasurer; and Ann Metzger, Vaudeville Chairman.

Our Junior Vaudeville was presented on February 5 and 6. This splendid work was due to our Chairman, Ann Metzger, the co-sponsors of our class, Mrs. Nell M. Thomas and P. W. Holaday, and all the students who participated in the show.

With the proceeds, the Junior Class bought a $1,000 War Bond. We gave this to the school to be used in ten years.

JUNIORS BUY BOND

Shortridge is one of the few schools in the country which has purchased a thousand dollar War Bond, thereby aiding financially in the war effort. The Class of '44 was able to do this with the proceeds from their annual Junior Vaudeville. Those shown above, Jim Cooley, treasurer; Patty Aspinall, secretary; and Ann Metzger, Junior Vaudeville chairman, represented the class in the actual purchasing of the bond through the Fletcher Trust Company. The bond was made payable to the Principal, Shortridge High School, as trustee for the Class of 1944. Besides buying the bond, the students sold four hundred and fifty dollars worth of War Savings Stamps at the Vaudeville, and paid an amusement tax of $131.53 to the government. The executive chairman of the Marion County War Savings Staff, Robert A. Adams, suggested that publicity be given to the event as an inspiration to other schools. The series F bond, bearing the number M 503914F, and showing a picture of Lincoln, was exhibited in one of the display windows. The official date of issuance was February, 1943; therefore, the bond matures February, 1955, twelve years later.

The bond is being presented to Dr. Hull (seated right).

On February the 5th and 6th, a capacity crowd witnessed a three-hour production of the combined talent of the Junior Class. This annual Junior Vaudeville was staged under the direction of Ann Metzger, and the sponsorship of Mrs. Nell Merrick Thomas and P. W. Holaday.

The First Act was called "Alice in Rhumba Land." The chairmen were Claire Robinson and Dorothy Wilson, who chose as their sponsor, Eleanor Dee Theek.

The Second Act, "Island Enchantment," was the winning act both nights. The chairmen were Jeanne Eldridge and Mildred Balke, and their sponsor was Mrs. Eugenia Hayden.

The Third Act featured Wendie Phillips in "Variety in Rhythm." The chairman was Eleanor Iovine, and the sponsor, Miss Rosemary O'Hara.

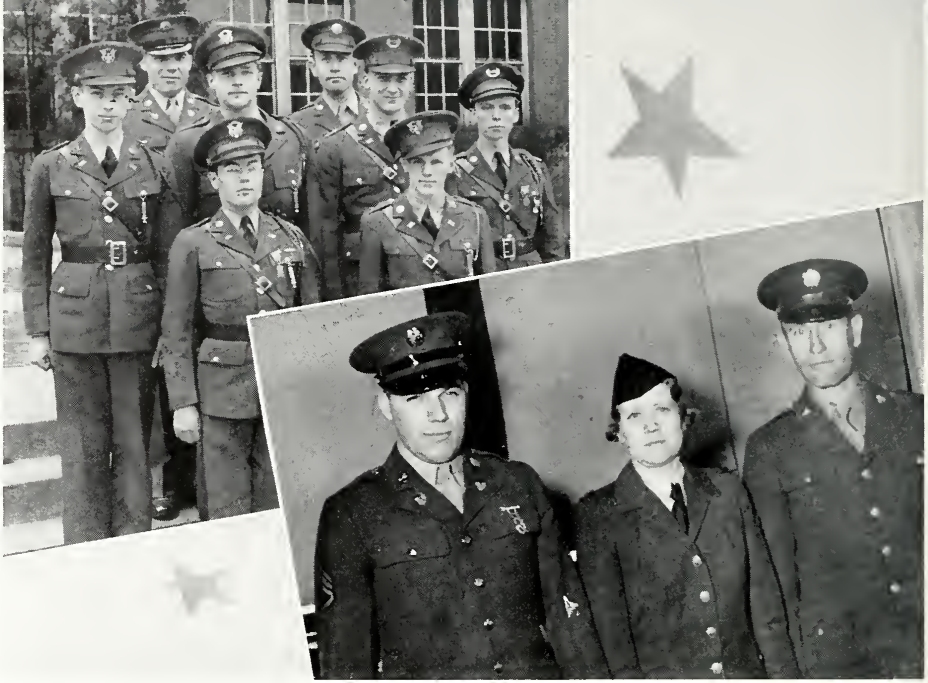

"The Hour of Charm" was the Fourth Act, under the chairmanship of Anna Louise Harshman, Isabelle Remy, June Fogle, Eleanor Mauch, and Mary Gentry, with their sponsors, Walter Geisler and Miss Josephine Davidson.

The last act was entitled "Stage Door Canteen." The chairmen were Elizabeth Ott, Jessie Lou Small, and Elizabeth Finley. The two sponsors were Louise Reiter and Howard F. Wright.

JUNIOR VAUDEVILLE, 1943

Intermission acts were presented by Jo Servass, Ruthann Perry, John Rawlings, Al Dunlap, Margaret Medsker, Larry Criswell, and Burton Randolph.

RIFLE CLUB

In this war the value of good marksmanship is well realized by the cadets of Shortridge high school.

This year, they participated with other schools in the Fifth Corps Area rifle match and in the Hearst Trophy Match. Cadet Private Don Winegar won the Hearst Trophy Medal. The members are Victor Barry, Ross Brentlinger, Robert Teufel, Richard Seehausen, Louis MacConnell, Thomas MacConnell, Paul C. Wadleigh, William Hinckley, Matthew Winters, Donald Winegar, George Zazas, William Woolen, 'Larry Jenkins, and Bruce Christie.

M.A.C.S.

Sgt. James W. Howe, Miss Dorothy J. Dipple, Corp. Herbert Greenwood.

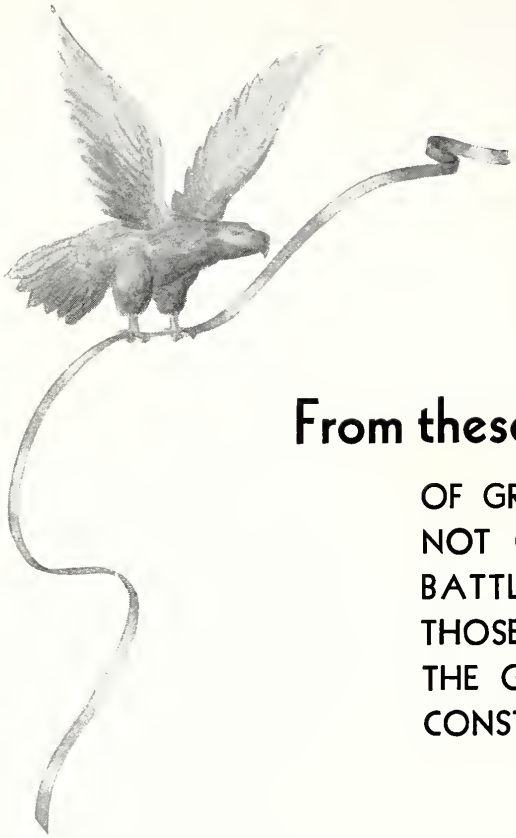

The Military Auxiliary Corps of Shortridge, open to all girls interested in drilling, was organized November 25, 1942, under the direction of Miss Dorothy Dipple. Dorothy Miller, Marion Obermeyer, Rosemary Crane, Jane Lingenfelter, Mary Lou Jordan, Rose Weinberg, Marilyn Conner, and Alice Cleri have been advanced for merit to the rank of Sergeant. The M.A.C.S. are practicing hard to achieve a part in the Federal Inspection.

This year the Shortridge R.O.T.C. program has assumed a position of importance. In this day of war there is a crying need for trained officers and men in the army—and the Shortridge battalion is exerting every effort toward producing them. Under the direction of Staff Sergeant James W. Howe and Corporal Herbert Greenwood, who have replaced Captain Neff as instructors, the cadets took part in the Armistice Day parade, provided color guards at football and basketball games, and assisted at school functions. But . . . "This is war," said Sergeant Howe. So they drilled, drilled, drilled. Discipline is what the army wants, and discipline is achieved through drilling. When it was too cold to permit outside work, the unit took to the class room where they studied military history, combat principles, and rifle marksmanship. Each one of the 450 cadets, from Cadet Major Paul C. Wadleigh and his staff, down to the last private in the last platoon of the last company, is aware of his responsibility; consequently, everything from "shining brass" to firing on the rifle range is done in a manner that says: "The R.O.T.C. knows this is war."

From these Ranks

OF GRADUATES SHALL COME NOT ONLY THE LEADERS OF BATTLE AND INDUSTRY, BUT THOSE WHO WILL BE AMONG THE GREAT IN THE VAST RE-CONSTRUCTION TO FOLLOW.

FACULTY SPONSORS

The Senior class is like an army, in that it functions only as well as its officers. The class of '43 has been singularly blessed in respect to its sponsors. Head man and worrier-in-chief is vice-principal Joel W. Hadley. Under this general, come Miss Theek, director of the senior play; Miss Nora Thomas and Miss Dorothy Peterson, social chairmen; Miss Barbara Turner and Willard Gambold, Class Day sponsors; Miss Reeta Clark, scholarship director; and Miss Dorothy Peterson, director of academic status.

The faculty members who assisted the Annual staff in producing the '43 yearbook were Mrs. Mary Dye Beach and Charles J. Wilkerson, literary advisers; Miss Essie Long, art; Robert C. Grubbs and H. H. Siemers, photography; and Paul Seehausen, co-ordinator. Liaison officers of this army are the senior home room sponsors, Miss Reeta Clark, C. C. Shoemaker, Miss Dorthea Paige, Paul Seehausen, Miss Barbara Turner, Lester Groth, Miss Josephine Davidson, Claude Keesling, Miss Louise Wills, and Howard Wright.

To facilitate the direction of Senior class activities and functions, early in the fall two representatives were selected from each Senior Home Room to form a governing body. They, with the class officers, comprise the President's Cabinet. This group decided class policies concerning the Annual dedication, the Senior photographer, the Senior party, and caps and gowns for graduation.

SENIOR HOME ROOM REPRESENTATIVES

Absent: V. J. Barry, D. Burget, B. Christie, J. Davis, G. Finney, E. Porter, M. Shultz, R. Stone, R. Davis.

S E N I O R

"And Came the Spring," a riotous comedy, directed by Miss Eleanor Dee Theek, was presented at 8:15, April 2, in Caleb Mills Hall. Mr. Wise and his orchestra provided the music.

The parts were taken as follows: Midge Hartman, Betty Jean Edwards; Buzz Lindsay, Al Dunlap; Virginia Hartman, Joan Bartley; Elliot Hartman, Dick Seehausen; Mrs. Hartman, Nancy Hull; Mr. Hartman, Ralph Raymer; Carollyn Webster, Margaret McGuire; Keith Nolan, Bill Arnold; Gabby Allen, Margaret Poynter; Freddie Nolan, Byron Falender; Edna, Dorothy Wilson; Mrs. Fields, Constance Drake; Mr. Fields, Victor J. Barry; Alan Fields, Jim Davis; Christine Myers, Phyllis Orewiler; Messenger, Dave Decker.

The play deals with the problems of the Hartman family in a very small town. Typical high school slang together with tricky dialogue presented delightful humor.

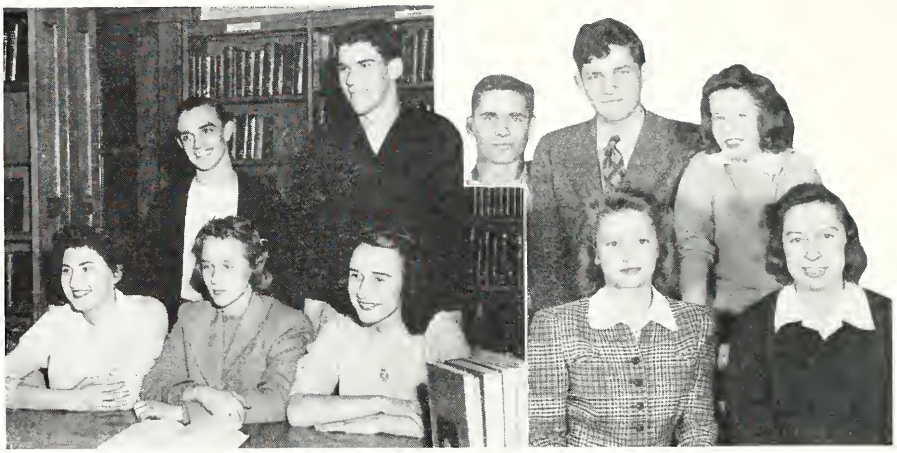

Miss Theek chose as her stage crew: June Goodrich, student director; Floyd Beitman, technical director; Raymond Stone, business director; Victor J. Barry, publicity director; Fred Daries, house manager; Dave Decker, stage manager; Joalyn Lyda, John Federman, wardrobe chairmen; Barbara McDougal, make-up director; Dick Griffith, sound director; John Pardee, light technician; Frances Zook and Phoebe Knowles, co-chairmen of the ushers; Jacqueline Slutsky, Katy Ely, prompters.

Acting Treasurer

The Senior Class of 1943 elected their officers on October 14, 1942. The triumphant candidates were Bruce Hilkene, president; Jean Clark, vice-president; Dotty Davis, secretary; Bill Schlensker, treasurer; and Catey Glossbrenner, Annual editor.

December 17, 1942, was the annual Christmas party in the girls' gym. Mr. Geisler was Santa Claus and presented gifts to various Seniors. A program and nickelodeon dance followed. The following committees made the party a success: Joan Bartley and John Ayers, entertainment; Sally Stewart and Meade Compton, entrance fees; Bud Stone and Jean Hixon, gifts; Pat Rudolph and Roland B. Rust, food; Bill English and Bonnie Jarvis, music; Vonnie Bowen and George Finney, decorations; and Bob Ragsdale and Fred Fitchey, clean-up.

The senior colors were dubonnet and light blue. Jean Clark and her colors committee made the ribbons.

The class play, "And Came the Spring," directed by Miss Eleanor Dee Theek, was presented Friday night, April 2, in Caleb Mills Hall.

The class day officers were elected April 20. Ed Porter was chosen as giftorian; Joalyn Lyda, historian; Victor J. Barry, will maker; and Jeanne Gates, prophet.

Vesper services were held June 6. Class Day was June 7. The Commencement exercises were held June 8 at the Coliseum.

Respectfully submitted,
Dotty Davis, Secretary

JUNIOR MINUTES 1942

The Junior Class of 1943 elected their officers on November 18, 1941. Those chosen were Bill Lieber, president; Jeanne Gates, vice-president; Maxine Bridgman, secretary; Don Ambuhl, treasurer; and Joan Bartley, Vaudeville chairman.

The Vaudeville was a real success. Joan Bartley and the sponsors, Mr. Burton and Mrs. Nell Thomas, deserved much praise. The prize-winning act for both nights was "Swiss Interlude," with chairmen Katherine McClure, Frances Zook, Keith Green, and their sponsor, Miss Eleanor Cook. Individual awards went to Bob English both nights, and Jack Jelliffe was chosen as the one contributing most to the show's success. Elizabeth Iovine won individual awards Friday night and Elizabeth Iovine and Susan Countryman, Saturday night. With the profits, the class purchased a $500 war bond which was given to the school by the Junior Class of '43 to be used for scholarships in future years.

On Honor Day the Junior Class presented cups to outstanding Seniors. Bill Lieber presented one to Jon Henry Rouch, and Joan Bartley to Barbara Evans.

On Awards Day the Junior Class of '43 presented to Raymond Stone the Harvard Book award which is given annually by the Harvard Club of Indiana to the best all-around boy.

Maxine Bridgman, Secretary

THEREON WE SCRIBE BOLDLY

YESTERDAY THERE WAS A SCOURGE
OF DEATH AND TREACHERY.
WE FEARED HIM AS HE BLITZED THE WORLD.
BURYING OUR BEMUSED HEADS IN THE SANDS
OF ISOLATION, WE WAITED.
THEN THERE CAME THE STORY OF FLAME
HURLED DOWN THROUGH THE SOUTHERN SKY,
AND BOMBS BLEW OUR SANDS
TO THE FOUR WINDS.
WE HAD SPOKEN LOUDLY, BUT CARRIED NO CLUB,
AND WE WERE EXPOSED TO THE FOE
GIRDED WITH NAUGHT BUT YOUNG MANHOOD
AND OUR CHRISTIAN FAITH.
WITH NAUGHT SAY YOU?
CHRISTIAN FAITH, AND YOUTH
BEGUN IN THE SCHOOL OF DEMOCRACY.
WE REWRITE THE STORY OF FLAME,
A VICTORIOUS END OF THE TALE.
THEN TAKE WE THE VOLUME OF PEACE
FROM THE SHELF, DUSTY WITH YEARS
OF DISUSE. AND THEREON WE SCRIBE BOLDLY.
WE, YOU AND I.

Under Miss Minnie Lloyd, another successful year has been added to the annals of the National Honor Society. The seventy-four members selected for membership by the faculty elected Douglas White, president, and Patricia Rudolph, secretary-treasurer. The following group chairmen were chosen: Margery Foltz, Margaret Waldo, and Joan Bartley. The faculty group sponsors were Mrs. Hope Nevitt, Mrs. Blanche Rawlings, and Mrs. Gertrude Weathers. The Society conducted a successful book drive in May, which was followed by a party in the teachers' cafeteria.

They also compiled alumni records, under the chairmanship of Rosemary Jones; cleaned the classrooms and study halls as directed by Alice Greene; sponsored, through Raymond Stone, the annual basketball game, this year between the junior and senior lettermen. On the evening of March 26, the National Honor Society held its formal initiation, which was witnessed by relatives and guests of the members.

1942 CITY CHAMPS

The 1942 edition of the Shortridge High School football team made a name and a record that will undoubtedly be long celebrated in the annals of the school's gridiron history. Coach Thomas D. Woods inherited nine outstanding lettermen and some thirty-odd grid performers from the excellent training of Robert L. Nipper (now a lieutenant in the United State Navy) and formed a championship squad which went through nine games undefeated and untied. This feat had not been equalled since the campaign of '26.

The Blue and White machine made its initial appearance and issued its warning to other opponents on September 18 at the Northside field when they vanquished the Crawfordsville Athenians, 51-6.

The following week, under the arc-lights of Roosevelt Stadium, Jim Allerdice led the Satans to a 6-0 edge over the Southport Cardinals. The defensive play of Bob Ragsdale and Gene Battreall kept the game from being as close as the score indicates, with pass interceptions and constant tackles, respectively.

FREIHOFER

Withrow of Cincinnati met its first defeat at the hands of a Shortridge eleven on October 6 when they bowed to a 20-0 score. Allerdice romped across twice for touchdowns, and Ray Stone snagged a Tiger pass and raced 60 yards for the final tally.

Jeff of Lafayette fulfilled expectations by proving one of the strongest opponents on the schedule before they fell to Shortridge 13-7 in the only other out-of-town game. The alertness of Captain Bruce Hilkene provided the winning marker when he recovered a Bronco fumble behind Jeff's goal.

FALLENDER

Back on the home front the following week, the Blue Devils met Washington in their first city series clash and had little trouble adding a 19-0 score to their unbroken victory string. This was "George Lewis Day," as the shifty right half-back crossed the double stripe twice.

Central of Muncie arrived at the Blue Devil camp on October 21, with enough respect and prestige to instill fear into the hearts of every Shortridger. An aroused Satan squad, eager to avenge last year's defeat, sent the highly-touted Bearcats back to their lair with a 19 to 0 trouncing, and thereby gained state-wide recognition.

A light, but stubborn Cathedral team caught Shortridge on an off Monday with unexpected opposition "via the air"; nevertheless Stone, Allerdice, and Hiram Rogers hit pay dirt for a 20 to 6 victory.

Five strings of Shortridge athletes ran wild against an out-classed Broad Ripple squad and racked up a 46-13 triumph, to set the stage for the all-important Tech encounter.

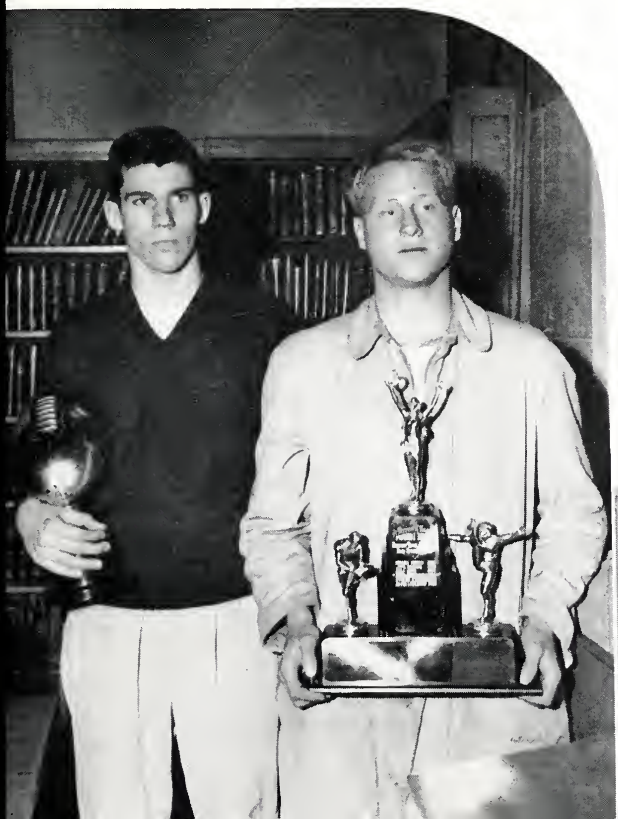

On Friday afternoon, November 13, Shortridge engaged their final obstacle for a perfect season at the Eastside plant in a City Championship battle with their ancient rival, Tech. No loyal Shortridge rooter or player will soon forget the brilliant running of Allerdice, or our powerful, hard fighting line holding the Big Green on the two yard stripe in the waning minutes of a hectic fourth quarter, to protect a three point margin. The final score was Shortridge 9, Tech 6.

LETTERMEN

MONOGRAM WINNERS

SKINNER TROPHY and WAGNER AWARD

Captain Bruce Hilkene received the coveted Frank J. Skinner trophy, awarded annually to the most valuable player on the squad. The Herbert T. Wagner award, given to the most improved member of the team, was presented to Fred Freihofer.

Right: Fred Freihofer.

RESERVES

Coach Fred "Knute" Rouch's reserve squad concluded their three game card, undefeated, untied, and unscored-upon. The Blue Devil understudies vanquished Manual 20 to 0, and routed the Washington and Tech seconds with identical 7-0 counts. Charles Hawthorne and John Meyer shared scoring honors in the backfield while Bernie Berger, Dick Sutton, and Jim Davis were outstanding on the line.

RESERVES

Front row: W. Hall, B. Harrington, M. Tiernan, B. Thompson, B. Schumaker, J. Perrine, B. Wagner, B. Boyer. Second row: Mr. Rouch, B. Brown, J. Davis, M. Winters, B. Berger, D. Sutton, M. Willis, M. Lawson, W. Thayer, P. McCord, D. Bush.

FROSH

The Blue Imps, under the new direction of Paul E. Dill, won two games and lost four. In their debut, the Rhinies edged Washington 8-6. The following week, they fell to Broad Ripple 18-0 and lost to Washington 7-0. A well-earned 7-6 victory over the Tech yearlings climaxed the season, before they bowed to Southport, 20-14, and dropped a 14-13 decision to Cathedral. Arthur Fleck led the frosh with 40 markers from his fullback post, and Bill Reel, Dave Haggard, and Jim Rice were stellar members of the forward wall.

THE BATTLING BLUE DEVILS

Although the 1942-43 basketball team was not the sharpest shooting, most highly polished, or most impressive band of Shortridge cage artists, they successfully carried on the precedent set by the football squad as the best-spirited, hard-fightingest aggregation ever to carry the Blue and White onto the local hardwood.

With four experienced lettermen, Coach Kenneth Peterman launched the net campaign with a strong start which placed Shortridge with Indiana's leading quintets and marked them as a potential state power. In the curtain raiser at Greenfield, the Blue Devils conquered the Tigers by a two-point margin. Greencastle was the next to fall, and the highly rated Golden Bears of Shelbyville were the third victim. The fourth straight victory of the Satan net snipers was over Southport.

After this excellent early season showing, the Peterman quintet hit a snag in their fifth encounter at Ben Davis which marked the beginning of a mid-season slump. Losing to Tech and Columbus in holiday tilts, the Blue Devils bounced back into form and outclassed Cathedral and Washington to prove to Indianapolis fans that they were not to be underestimated in city competition. In a substitute game for the city tourney, Shortridge lost a heart-breaker to Manual as one lone Redskin stood back and potted longs constantly in his only showing of the season. Broad Ripple was fresh from upsetting powerful Tech, when the Satans put them back in their place with a well-deserved victory. Howe, Crawfordsville, and Jeff of Lafayette pounded the Blue Devils consecutively before they steamed up for a stretch drive.

Going into the home stretch, Shortridge took revenge on Manual in the regularly scheduled contest and it marked the great awakening of the Northside hardwooders. A powerful Martinsville squad bowed to Shortridge and a fast moving Lebanon outfit fell before the Blue Devils as they appeared to be rocketing into the Sectional Tourney with a blazing finish to their regular season. The Blue offense did not cool off until the second half of the final game with Anderson. After holding a seven-point lead at the intermission, Shortridge was held to only four points in the second half as they dropped the last game of the schedule.

TRACK

The 1943 track season at Shortridge was not too successful. Several outstanding performers were lost to the war effort. In the opening meet with Jeff of Lafayette and Crawfordsville, the Blue Devils finished second. Shortridge eked a one point margin over Washington in a dual meet, and captured sixth in the Southport Relays. The relay combinations spelled victory for the Satans in the next meet at Howe. After annexing fifth in the city meet at Tech, the Blues bowed to Manual.

Coach Don R. Knight's squad was exceptionally strong in the hurdles with George Lewis invariably winning the high and low stick events, followed by Larry Stuart and Tom King. Dan Pratt captured several blue ribbons in the 440-yard dash. The half-mile relay team, Ray Stone, Bruce Christie, Kenny Brown, and George Lewis, threatened city competition and the mile quartet, Ben Boleman, Jack Perrine, Larry Stuart, and Dan Pratt, won consistently. Cecil Freihofer and Bruce Hilkene shared honors in the shot put.

George Lewis won the low barriers in the Sectionals and Cecil Freihofer garnered seconds in the shot put and pole vault to qualify for the State meet. Lewis was elected honorary captain.

Coach Roy Aberson's freshman thinlies won over Washington, Manual, and Howe. They were runners-up in the City meet, though they lost to Tech.

In the sectional tournament, Shortridge gained the right to meet Lawrence Central in the semi-finals by thumping Crispus Attucks and Beech Grove. The Bears seemed to be "on" that afternoon as they managed to stay in front almost all the way. The courageous Satans fought their hearts out all the way and succeeded in knotting the count in the waning seconds of the final period. A Central field goal in this crucial moment ended the career of the Shortridge bucket tossers and Lawrence went on to annex the Sectional crown.

Climaxing his thirteenth year as coach of Shortridge basketball teams, Coach Kenneth Peterman led his fighting Blue Devils to a record of twelve victories in twenty-one games. The entire school owes much to Mr. Peterman because of his untiring patience in working with and developing each individual performer to bring out the best possible basketball material for the student body.

King, B. Kegley, C. Hawthorne, S. Proctor, J. Perrine.

The superb backboard and rebound ability of Bruce Hilkene, Leroy Casselman, forwards, and Donald Rogers, center, was equaled by few quintets in the state, because of their superior height and prowess under the basket. The aggressive defensive play of Cecil Freihofer and Jack Smith, along with their accurate shooting, made these two Blue Devils outstanding in practically every game. Lee Hummel and Bruce Christie were constant starters also, who were equally capable as steady ball handlers. Bob Fink, Jim Allerdice, Dick Light, Ralph Carter, and Alan Levinson completed the varsity roster.

Bruce Hilkene received the Dr. George V. Underwood trophy, having been named the most valuable varsity player by Coach Peterman. Alan Levinson copped the Underwood most valuable reserve player award.

Donald Rogers, senior center, was elected honorary captain of the '42-'43 squad by his team-mates at the end of the season.

Monogrammed sweaters were presented to Hilkene, Rogers, Smith, Christie, Hummel, and Fink, seniors; Casselman, Freihofer, and Allerdice, juniors.

GOLF

Shortridge has always been noted for fine golf teams and this year was no exception. The links squad, under the direction of Simon P. Roache, enjoyed a successful season augmented by a double win over Tech. They lost to Howe. Fred Fitchey and Gene Battreall vied for the No. 1 position. John Smith, Larry Hare, Fred Lesh, LeRoy Elam, Bob Hull, Walter Stall, Bill Harrington, Dick Gilchrist, and Wendy Phillips completed the roster. The team has yet to meet Cathedral, Howe, and a city tournament under the auspices of Howe High School at Pleasant Run.

In the intramural tournament, Team 2 came through to claim the championship, winning 8 games out of the 12 game tournament. The captain of Team 2, Betty Nicholson, was aided by Betsy Goodwin, Tootie Nicholson, Shirley Braun, Phyllis Peterson, Joyce Hesler, Ann Schaffner, Alice O'Neal, Jeanne Teeple, Betty Adams, Ann Kennedy, and Peggy Rankin.

The team in second place was No. 1, led by Peg Shiveley. Other members of the team were Jo Ann Stelzel, Sally Bicknell, Pat Bond, Evangeline Andrews, Frances Brockman, Emily Greenland, Ida May Payne, Margaret Lytle, Jane Sewell, and Phoebe Good.

Points were awarded on the basis of attendance and team standing, and a sweater is awarded to a girl who has earned one thousand points. Those who received 75 points toward a sweater were Betty Nicholson, Betsy Goodwin, Tootie Nicholson, Shirley Braun, and Phyllis Peterson. Joyce Hesler earned 70 points, and the following girls earned 50 points each: Ann Schaffner, Peg Shively, JoAnn Stelzel, Sally Bicknell, Pat Bond, Evangeline Andrews, and Frances Brockman.

Those who will probably take the lead on the advanced basketball teams in a few years are Marilyn Conner, Barbara Sims, Pat Riggin, Ann Brigham, Betty Wrege, and Verna Houk. These girls combined their efforts to win the beginners' basketball tournament which was played on Tuesdays and Fridays.

The advanced players were disappointed this year by not being able to participate in interschool competition because a certified referee for basketball was not available.

HOCKEY

The Shortridge girls' varsity hockey team was captained by Suzy Schaub and the following following girls were team members: Betsy Ancker, Shirley Braun, Emily Blasingham, Betsy Goodwin, JoAnn Stelzel, Joan Ober, Ida May Payne, Lois Stettler, Betty Jean Stuckey, and Helen Unversaw. Mrs. Thelma Clark was coach and sponsor.

LETTER GIRLS

The Shortridge sweater is the highest honor awarded to girls in athletics. The girls receive points by participating in various sports and activities sponsored by the girls' athletic department. When a total of one thousand points is reached, a girl is awarded her sweater. The sweater is white with a navy blue block "S" in the center front.

THE BLUE BEYOND

PIERCING THIS WALL OF FLAME
WHICH NOW SURROUNDS OUR HEARTS
INTO THE VEILED BLUE BEYOND
SHUNNING THIS WRETCHED WAR OF MAN
OUR EAGER SOULS UNTOUCHED BY SHAME
STRAIN FORTH TO HOLD EACH VIVID HOUR
LIKE TURBULENT METEORS DARTING ON.

THEIR BURNISHED ORBS, EACH PLEASANT TIME
WE TRY TO CLUTCH WITHIN OUR HANDS
THOUGH WISE MEN SAY,
"YOU ARE BUT YOUNG, A LIFE AHEAD,"
THE YEARS SPEED BY—AND
MOMENTS FADE LIKE FRAGRANT DEW
BENEATH THE SUNS OF TIME.

AND ON UNFURLING SCROLLS OF LIFE
EACH SHINING HOUR SHALL BE ENGRAVED
ALTHO' SOME THOUGHTS SHALL BE DISMISSED
AS NIGHT FLEES 'MID THE DAWNING'S GLOW
THESE FOUR SHORT YEARS, A SPARKLING GEM
OF SHEER DELIGHT, WHICH WE NOW HOLD
SHALL NEVER DIE. BUT EVER LIVE.
